

Andreas Prahl is a Researcher at Ecologic Institute in the field of energy and climate. His research interests include the analysis and economic evaluation of policy tools, in particular in the field of renewable energies, energy efficiency, and carbon markets.